Re: Tack Shelf Life Elimination

American Fiber and Finishing is eliminating shelf life on all documents including certifications, Product Specifications, and all other notations effective immediately. Currently, under the BAC requirements the tack base material (before tack) should pass the AMS. All our tack base materials meet the AMS requirements. Further, the BAC's have never called out a shelf life on tack materials. Therefore, American Fiber and Finishing has agreed with Boeing to eliminate the shelf life notations based on chemical knowledge and historical experience.
